City's Hat Off To Lions Club After Fun-Fest

Are your feet still flat?

Does your voice croak?

Are you busted?

Don't answer—you're no different than 6000 other Sierra Madrenns who have just come out the other end of the most successful Lions-sponsored Pioneer Days yet witnessed.

It was a community triumph in every sense of the word—starting at the moment the Grand Marshal C. W. Jones and his entourage came in view—ending with the last lurch of the caterpillar as the expertly-handled carnival closed. And the Lions made a tidy profit for their twin beneficiaries, funds for youth activities and for the blind. Who could ask for more?

The parade crowd lined the streets for the full length of the route and there was a warm handclasp between old-timer and newcomer as the first car bore the town's first mayor Mr. Jones, Mrs. C. W. Bowen, Miss Elizabeth Steinberger and Mrs. Maybelle Caley Barker through a welter of applause. There were wonderful touches of humor—remember Tom Schwartz and Noren Eaton, pillars of our communal life, hauling two burros along the way, "prospecting for a better Sierra Madre?" They struck a rich vein of appreciation for their spirit.

Remember the coach dog TIED under the President's buggy—but enjoying his part so much that his rope was slack as he arf-arfed up the street?

And Don Miller solemnly piloting his erratic bicycle? And the dignity with which the animals passed by on their way to the pet show?

The bands and the drum corps were excellent—breathes there a man who can keep his feet flat on the curb as a good tootling band goes by?

The magnificent horses, matched only by their silver saddlery, were in a class by themselves as, proud and beautiful, they danced along a route of ohs and ahs.

There were countlessly more floats this year than last—every organization appeared to have an entry—all clever, all indicating that the town had caught the ball from the Lions and turned the three day event into a city-wide celebration.

Sierra Madrean Ransom Mathews was responsible for superb entries of ancient automobiles from the "Horseless Carriage Society." They brought their own atmosphere with them, recreating another era. Streetside effects were achieved by Mrs. J. Stadden Miller in an authentic gown, Mrs. Boyd Keith dazzling in periwinkle taffeta Norman Nelson returning to us as the straw hatted drummer, Mrs. Woodson Jones in jet, Paul Carter in unpressed but impressive tails, gangs of jeaned teen-agers and flocks of Indian and cowboy small-fry.

The carnival was well-equipped. Those shrieks that rent the air for three days, issued either from riders of the "octo-

They attended the big circus which was part of the special entertainment for guests at the International Kiwanis Convention, convening in Los Angeles. Dr. Philip R. Woodworth was the Kiwanis chairman in charge.

Shippeys Home From Europe

Lee Shippey dropped in the Sierra Madre News Office this morning as is a frequent habit—to say that he and Mrs. Shippey arrived home last Saturday from their six weeks in England, France and Switzerland.

Mrs. Shippey is a native Frenchwoman and enjoyed a reunion with relatives and friends.

When asked what impressed them the most in their travels, Mr. Shippey said, "Switzerland is wonderful, the evidence of three races making an adjustment is worthy of world attention. Switzerland has three official languages, French, German and Italian and most people speak English. They have accomplished so

WHEELS STARTED LOCALLY TO FIGHT STARVATION BY CRUSADE FOR CHILDREN

Mrs. Wm. Marmion, newly elected president of the Sierra Madre Girl Scout Council has taken up the burden for the immediate needs in the nation-wide project "Crusade for Children".

To tell the story quickly; Millions of children—tens of millions of children—are confronted with the stark and immediate problem of survival. For them the crisis is NOW!

The 1948 need is $60,000,000. The appeal has government approval all down the line as a necessary and essential part of our foreign aid policy. Twenty-six relief agencies are participating in the cause known as American Overseas Aid-United Nations Appeal for Children.

The Sierra Madre campaign started off Monday when Mrs. Clark of Los Angeles talked to children at school and Mr. Martinez, regional chairman, presented the picture to the adult group including teachers and civic leaders at 3 o'clock also at the school.

Every parent and youth leader will consider this emergency a "must" to send a check to battle starvation. Mrs. Marmion asks that checks be mailed in care of Sierra Madre Postmaster and made out to: Treasurer of the Crusade for children.

RECORDS SHOW GROWTH OF VISITING NURSE SERVICE APPRECIATED

That Sierra Madre has the same Visiting Nurse Association facilities that the larger cities have?

That your visiting nurse will carry out all doctor's orders; give skilled nursing care and treatment; teach the patient or some member of the family to give necessary care in her absence; will instruct expectant mothers—and fathers too, in infant care before the baby is born; will demonstrate the baby's care at home (the bath, the formula, the daily routine), will help teach mothers the proper feeding of their families and other essentials of healthful living; will help decrease loss of working time for industrial employees who are sick or who need counsel about health problems.

That your visiting nurse is a graduate, registered nurse who has had public health training?

The regular charge per visit is $2.75. If the family is unable to meet this the charge will be modified according to their ability to pay.

The Sierra Madre Red Cross sponsors this visiting nurse service, which is from the Visiting Nurse Association of Pasadena. An agreement was made with them in April, 1945, under the terms of which they make all necessary calls here. If the patient is not able to pay their regular charge, or only a part of it, or nothing at all ,the Red Cross underwrites the balance.

Growth of this service since its inception may be seen from the following figures: For the year 1946—eighty-four calls of which $45.25 was paid by the Red Cross; for the year 1947—346 calls with $282.75 paid by the Red Cross; and for the first quarter of 1948—eighty-three calls and $115.73 paid.

For further information regarding this service, please call your Red Cross.

Second in the line of parade was the surrey carrying Pappy in the front seat (no small task), Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Danielson and Mrs. Welch in back and a photogenic Dalamation bringing up the lower rear.

Canyon Flood Channel Fall Fatal to Man

Any action to fence the flood control channel in Sierra Madre Canyon, following a fatal accident there last week, must come from the Los Angeles Flood Control Authorities, is the opinion of City Attorney Thomas A. Reynolds. Mr. Reynolds said the city has no jurisdiction on the channel right of way.

Apparently missing a foot bridge across the channel in the darkness, Arthur B. Barlow, 59, of 5153 Pickford Way, Culver City, stepped over the unfenced edge and fell 12 feet to the concrete bottom. The accident occurred about 9 p. m., May 31. Mr. Balrow was rushed to St. Luke Hospital in critical condition and on June 3 he died.

The fatally injured man, accompanied by his daughter, Mary, had been looking for a house number when he missed his footing at the bridge near 731 Brookside Lane. According to the police report, a street light near the bridge had been out for three nights, leaving the spot in darkness. R. H. Green, manager of the Sierra Madre office of the Edison Co., told the NEWS he had received no complaint of the light being out until after the accident.

City Park Locale for Camp

The Sierra Madre Girl Scout and Camp Fire Girl organization are jointly sponsoring a Day Camp which will be available for all girls from the second grade through the eighth grade, whether they belong to an organized youth group or not, and will be held twice weekly for four weeks from 9:30 A. M. to 3:00 P. M., beginning on June 28th, on Mondays and Fridays, at the Sierra Madre City Park. A trained camping executive from Pasadena will have charge of the program with the assistance of both Camp Fire and Girl Scout leaders. The activities will include folk dancing, games, camp craft, hand craft, cookouts, swimming, singing and dramatics.

The registration fee will be $1.50 which must accompany each application. This amount will cover the cost of hand craft materials, treats, and the like. Registration is limited to the first 120 girls who apply and applications with the fee may be left at the Red Cross office at 41 South Baldwin Avenue between the hours of 10:00 and 12:00 and 1:00 to 3:00, or may be mailed to Box 274, Sierra Madre. Each girl must remember to bring a bag lunch to each session. For further information phone Mrs. Charles Skutt or Mrs. C. Lauren Maltby.

COUNTY LIBRARY OUT; RAP CITRUS GROVES

Council Discusses Water and Books; Standing Room Only

Plans for Sierra Madre to affiliate with the county library system are "dead". The present library is public in spirit and partially so in fact, but the building and grounds are privately owned and the whole question of who owns what is a legal tangle that must be unsnarled by the Superior Court. Agriculture, in so far as it depends on cheap water ,is probably going to have rough going in Sierra Madre.

These were the principal developments Tuesday night as the City Council held its bimonthly meeting before a crowd that jammed the City Hall council chambers.

All meetings of the new Council have been well-attended, but with two such controversial issues pending as the library and the price of water—public interest was intense. Councilman Don Jackson presided in the absence of Henry Neutzel, acting Mayor during Mayor Steinberger's leave of absence..

Both the library and water issues had been initiated at the preceding Council meting by Councilman Herman Barter. As will be reported below, Mr. Barter's contention that under present rates the Water Department is not paying its way or providing for necessary improvements is receiving considerable support. On the library matter, however, he ran slam into the Library Board, as well as into the legal jungle which has grown up around the library since its founding in 1886 by private individuals.

The Council met with the Library Board on Monday night and Bd. Member Ross Hickcox appeared at Tuesday's meeting to explain to the public the historical background of the library and the reasons for the Library Board's opposition to County operation.

In exchange of remarks between Hickcox and Barter, the councilman was emphatic in saying that he had been disappointed in his hope for an open-minded discussion with the Board of the library question. At the end of an hour and a quarter, he said, the Board saw "no advantages whatever" in county operation and "appeared to think we have about the best little library in Southern California."

Asked to sum up the situation, Mr. Barter said, "the library Board talks as though it's finished business. Now it's up to the citizens of the town. Otherwise I'm afraid it's a dead issue."

A few minutes earlier, in response to criticism of the library service by William Schmitt, a member of the audience, Mr. Hickcox retorted "there never was a better library for its size." Estimating that county operation would save about $3000 annually, he said the superiority of the present organization far outweighed the question of economy.

Critics of the library praised the librarian and her staff, but felt that the present supply of books was inadequate and said they thought the county would give more service for less money. This contention was denied by Mrs. Joseph Nash, long active in community affairs, who read a statement setting forth her findings from inspection of three county-operated libraries in this area.

Mrs. Nash said she had inspected county libraries in Claremont, Altadena, and Duarte. In Claremont, she reported, costs were higher than in Sierra Madre, books older, service inferior. She said that even the most popular current books were not available until several months after publication and that even then libraries in the county system had to take turns on the volumes and were unable to keep books long enough to satisfy the demand. She concluded that users of the present Sierra Madre Library have all the best of it and suggested, as had Mr. Hickcox, that library patrons who don't find the books they want ask help of the library staff.

Concerning the legal status of the library, it still sounded very complicated as explained by Mr. Hickcox. At least, was the opinion of C. A. Vane, who declared "no one knows who owns what. The library is like an Insull holding company. Why don't the trustees execute a grant deed to the city?"

Mr. Hickox said the Library Corporation had been wanting to do that for years, but there were legal impediments. Mr. Vane said he objected to the city appropriating money for a "private institution." City Attorney Thomas Reynolds then interposed with the opinion that the library is "entirely public," as established under general statutes. He said the problem was simply "the mechanics of winding up the trust" so as to give the city a clear title.

He said he owuld initiate action in Superior Court at "the proper time." This time, he stated, might not be for four or five years, when sufficient tax money has accumulated to permit construction of the projected new library which the city electorate has approved.

Al S. Meyers, onetime City Manager of Sierra Madre, launched the water discussion with the charge that by granting less-than-cost rates to large water users the taxpayers "have really subsidized the citrus industry for 35

The groom's brother, Henry Massingiff, was the best man.

Forty guests were entertained by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gotfred C. Jacobsen, at 534 Ramona Ave. following the church ceremony. Mrs. Jacobsen selected a flowered jersey with black accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was an orchid.

New Books Announced At Library

You may think you don't care to read about feudin' or fistcuffs or fightin', but the HATFIELDS AND THE McCOYS by Virgil Carrington Jones, is a fascinating book. It has everything, suspense, color, sex, romance, intrigue and sordidness. This American feud folk tale is almost a little classic. Particularly in the early chapters where the author charms with his descriptions of the mountain life in the wild and beautiful hills of West Virginia and Kentucky. You wander through the great forests, pause beside little streams in fairy dells, gaze in awe at the magnificent narrow gorges with mountains running up like walls. You become acquainted with the old families in their cabins on the forest slopes, enjoy their quiet hospitality, discover them to be a courteous people, quaint too, and proud. Then all at once before your eyes unrolls an amazing epic of love and hate, murder and death.

This feud between the Hatfields and the McCoys was more than just a quarrel between two backwoods families. It was to become a great tragedy, violent and unrelenting with all the characters. doomed, and all of them incredibly obsessed with playing their parts to the bitter end.

The serious trouble really began in the 1870's, in a series of incidents over a roamin' sow and her litter. Floyd Hatfield approriated this sow and her family as she wandered by his cabin. Randolph McCoy said it, or rather they, belonged to him, and hauled Hatfield into court. At that time there were twelve Hatfield children, and thirteen McCoys; so the jury was evenly balanced, six Hatfields, six McCoys. But the judge was a Hatfield. Then a McCoy juror (married to a Hatfield) wavered in his testimony. That did it! Hatfield won the verdict but the hills got a feud that was to last two generations. It not only pitted family against family, but governor against governor, state against state, and was to reach all the way to the nation's capital at Washington.

This book may be had at the library. Other new books received are: Non-fiction: Memoirs of Cordell Hull, 2 vol. Mr. Lincoln's Camera Man, Meredith; The Marine's War, Pratt; Four Studies in Loyalty, Sykes; Free Admission, Chase; George Horace Lorimer and the Saturday Evening Post, Tebbel; Economic reports of the President; Barbed-wire Surgeon, Weinstein; Two small a world-life of Mother Cabrini, Maynard; Art of Hooked-Rug Making, Batchelder; Ranchos Become Cities, Robinson; Land of Shorter Shadows, Gardner; St. Thos. Aquinas, Chesterton; Far West, Look Magazine.

During the month 3339 books were loaned for home reading. Of this number 851 were from the juvenile department.

Troop Number Three of the Sierra Madre Boy Scouts made and gave to the library a book rack which holds the scout books, magazines, and merit badge pamphlets. Thank you, members of Troop Three.

Drivers' Responsibility In New Traffic Law Will Be Operative July 1

Possession of standard automobile liability insurance does not excuse a driver or operator of a motor vehicle from certain responsibilities under the new California Financial Responsibility Law which becomes operative July 1, A. H. Henderson, Director of Motor Vehicles, warned today.

A standard automobile liability policy calls for minimum $1000 property damage coverage, $5000 for injury or death of one person and $10-000 for injury or death of two persons in any one accident.

Automobile liability insurance in the required minimum amounts meets security provisions of the act but does not exempt a driver from the necessity of reporting his serious accidents.

"If he is involved in a mishap entailing injury, death, or property damage in excess of $100 to any one automobile, including his own, he must report that fact within 10 days to the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento, marked to the attention of Financial Responsibility.

"The law calls for suspension of the driver's license if he fails to do so."

Henderson's department will administer the law. He said the law has been mistakenly termed a "compulsory insurance law." No compulsion is involved, however. Insurance provides a means of meeting security requirements under the law but it is not mandatory.

If the driver is not insured he must post cash or other security to meet terms of the law. It requires the Department to suspend the driver's license of any operator or driver of a motor vehicle who within 60 days of reporting an accident fails to post an amount of security deemed sufficient by the Department to meet any possible damage judgments.

Report forms containing full instructions can be obtained from police departments, offices of the California Highway Patrol and branch offices of the State Department of Motor Vehicles. Folders explaining the law are available at these same locations. Every California driver is advised to familiarize himself with the law to safeguard his driver's or chauffeur's license.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Mrs. Ward:

Mrs. Steinberger and I are now in Florida having stopped along the way to visit points of interest. Yesterday we stopped in a Florida Wayside Park and with our trailer had all the luxuries of home. A nice hot lunch was prepared and we enjoyed it on the banks of the Swanee River. Have not received any news from home because we never knew where we would be.

In a few days we will be at Ray Guy's Trailer Park, Fort Lee, N. J.

Trusting you and all my friends in Sierra Madre are well and happy, I am.

—J. M. Steinberger.

LOUIS CORTI MEMORIAL AT BARD COLLEGE

Sierra Madre friends and acquaintances of the late Louis Feloy Corti of "Casa Serena," 58 West Mira Monte Ave., will be interested to learn that an exedra, the gift of three friends, is being erected to his memory on the campus of Bard College, Annandale - on - Hudson, New York, where he was instructor in French, Italian and Spanish for the 17 years just previous to his coming to live in Sierra Madre in 1941.

The exedra, an outdoor bench in the form of a two-angled segment of a circle, is of native New York blue-stone, which is reputedly harder and more durable than granite. Large enough to seat ten persons comfortably, the exedra, its base embedded in concrete, will stand on a grassy knoll overlooking the tennis courts, the forest, the Hudson river, and the Catskill mountains to the west.

It was on this knoll that Professor Corti held many language conferences and conversations with his pupils. Designed by Harvey Fite, well-known Woodstock sculptor, instructor in that art at Bard College and formerly a language pupil and friend of Professor Corti, the exedra, suitably inscribed, will be accepted and dedicated by President Edward Fuller of Bard College on Commencement Day, June 12.

COMMENTS FROM PARADE NEWS

The open stagecoach used by the Pangborn Realty Company in the Pioneer Days Parade Saturday is supposed to be the conveyance used for passenger service to Los Angeles from the Sierra Madre Villa Hotel in the 1880's. Mr. Pangborn said the costumes worn by himself and party were selected from the period shown in an old picture of the coach and its passengers.

The beaded jacket worn by Jane Colbert in the prize-winning float is 64 years old and the property of Mrs. Bell McCann Johnson. Miss Colbert was the designer of the float.

Air Vigil Speeds Up Smog Control

Air Pollution Control District inspectors operating in Sierra Madre area and other sections of the county, today reported to Dr. Louis C. McCabe, director, that smog from 172 industrial sources had been abated during the month of May. Citations charging air pollution violations against that number of plants were "dead-filed."

The 12 district inspectors, each constantly patrolling an assigned area, reported that during that calendar period, a total of 996 inspections of smoke emissions were made; 29 inspections of fumes emissions; 54 of particulate matter; and 41 inspections of objectionable odors.

During that same period, 203 plants were given written notices of air pollution violations, while 30 plant operators were cited to appear for office hearings.

"May was the first full month in which the district has had 12 inspectors in the field, checking on industrial air pollution sources," Dr. McCabe pointed out. "The results, and the co-operation of the plant owners, are gratifying.

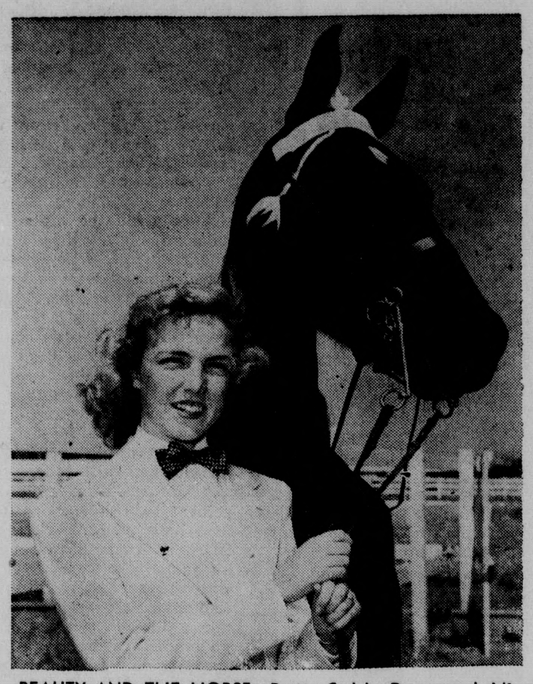

"But it is, necessarily, a step-by-step process. With the addition of eight inspectors in July, we will increase the pace of enforcement."

Queen of Atlantic City's Steel Pier, Barbara Grand-Bergh, of Jersey City, N. J., is campaigning—but not for any particular candidate. She wears a swim suit covered with buttons heralding all leading candidates for the Republican presidential nomination, hoping to get GOP delegates to visit Atlantic City either before or after their Philadelphia convention.

Save A Child... Save The Future!

Look at the face of this little boy. In it you see no hope, no happiness. Only fear—and resentment. He will grow up hating the world—unless you give him that hope, now!

AS you read this, millions of the world's children are starving.

To keep as many as possible alive, the members of the United Nations are making a unified appeal for your help.

This appeal is called the Crusade for Children, and here in the U. S., 26 long-established relief agencies are represented.

Sixty million dollars are needed—and quickly. For hunger breeds hate, hate breeds war.

When you save a child today, you save the future tomorrow. You and your own children must live—or die—in that future. So give now!

UNCLE SAM'S PART of your telephone bill

The Federal tax rate on local telephone service is 15%. The tax rate on long distance service, where the charge is 25c or over, is 25%. Other forms of telephone service are subject to Federal taxes at rates ranging from 8% to 25%.

This tax is imposed by the U. S. Government directly on the user of the telephone. The telephone company, at its own expense, serves as a collector.

Long distance calls and certain other services, being taxed at 25%, are taxed higher than the 20% rate for luxuries such as furs, jewelry, and perfumes.

This form of tax, that is an excise tax on telephone service, has traditionally been resorted to only in national emergencies. Your telephone company believes this form of tax should not be a part of the peace time tax structure. Representatives of the telephone industry have urged and will continue to urge before the proper Congressional committees that these excise taxes now be eliminated; and many users and representatives of users of telephone service are likewise urging that they be repealed by the tax legislation now before the Congress.
